About the Artist:

Jane Lammers has had a lifelong interest in the natural world, the visual arts & architecture, and has traveled extensively in the continental US and Hawaiian Islands, visiting botanical gardens, national parks, forests and other natural areas, as well as art institutes and photographic exhibits in New York City, Chicago, San Francisco, Washington D.C., Atlanta, Houston, Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Rochester, NY.

Jane is a member of the St. Lawrence County Arts Council, the Lake Placid Center for the Arts and supports the Art Institute of Chicago and the National Gallery in Ottawa. Jane and her husband Bernie have sponsored awards for excellence in both photography and sculpture at the annual Gibson Gallery high school juried art exhibit at SUNY Potsdam.

Jane's educational background includes study in biology and botany at Carleton College and Cornell University. Jane is a sustaining member of the Missouri Botanical Garden, which is a major botanical research institution as well as an international leader in sponsoring research to understand and maintain world biodiversity.
